These guys are one of the funniest bands around, but they ain't playin' when their songs take on issues like misguided nationalism or technology or Midwestern despair. We think they have the best bullshit detector in the scene. But this foursome is a little weirder, a little smarter, and a little heavier-sounding than your average punk band, and they have 13 new ones on Sick Of Space. Just look at the goddamn song titles and tell us you don't wanna party with this LP?! Sick Of Space will be their third album on Red Scare and that's usually when our bands achieve mainstream success, so get on board while they're still cool!
